

John Shea received his Ph.D. in electrical engineering from Clemson University in 1998. In 1999, he joined the faculty of the University of Florida, where he is currently a Professor of electrical and computer engineering. He received the Lifetime Award for Technical Achievement from the IEEE Military Communications Conference (MILCOM) in 2012, and he is the only two-time winner (in 1996 and 2013) of the Fred. W. Ellersick Award for the best paper in the unclassified program of MILCOM. He has been an Editor for IEEE Wireless Communications magazine since 2010. He served as an Editor for the IEEE Transactions on Wireless Communications from 2008 to 2012 and was an Associate Editor for the IEEE Transactions on Vehicular Technology from 2002 to 2007. His current research is in the areas of wireless communications and networking, with emphasis on military communications, networked autonomous systems, physical-layer security, and cross-layer design.
